City-Greenbriar Discuss Parkway Overpass, Possible Reconciliation

by Elaine Skolnik

An air of optimism prevailed at the conclusion of a special meeting called by the Greenbelt City Council on April 9 to try to bring about a reconciliation with Greenbriar Phase I owners on the location of the overpass. The bridge would span the Baltimore-Washington Parkway from the east end of Gardenway in Old Greenbelt to Greenbriar Phase I condominium apartments. About 19 persons attended the meeting, including some Phase II owners.

After two hours of discussion, Phase I board president Bill Ayers and board member Donald Shell said they would report back to the owners on the possible accommodations presented (1) the city's offering more money for the necessary easement through the parking lot of Phase I, (2) a city-wide referendum on whether or not Greenbelters want an overpass, and (3) input by Greenbriar owners in the design of the overpass and in developing security measures.

Shell and Ayers said they would work toward reaching an accommodation with the city. They agreed with others in the audience that a long drawn out court battle would be distasteful as well as expensive for both the city and Phase I owners, especially since they believed that eventually the overpass would be built. Additionally their hope that the overpass location would be moved to Mandan Road, where private property was not involved, was dashed when the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) said "No" to a bridge at Mandan. However, some Phase I owners would not accept this verdict and said they are prepared to fight to the "bitter end."

More Money

After the city's offer in December 1978 of $3,768 was turned down for the easement (0.09945 of an acre) for a path from the overpass through the median strip of the parking lot between 7716 and 7718 Hanover Parkway, the city filed a condemnation suit against Greenbriar Associates and Greenbriar Recreation Association, owners of record. An easement is not the total taking of property but use of the property for a particular purpose. The city also offered $771 for temporary use of adjacent land during construction of the walkway. Construction of the overpass by the FHWA will be carried out directly from the Parkway.

Council was receptive to paying more for the easement if this would make the overpass at the Gardenway Phase I location acceptable, and to avoid the possible 1½ to 2 year delay if there is opposition.

Referendum

Previously Ayers had suggested a city-wide referendum to settle the matter and Councilman Gil Weidenfeld had followed by making a motion for a referendum on the location (Gardenway versus Mandan). The motion had then been tabled until Councilman Thomas White's query as to whether or not FHWA would consider Mandan Road as a feasible location was answered.

In a letter dated March 14, FHWA reiterated support for the Gardenway route because it is the most direct, "fits into the environment in that the approach walks will not be unnaturally steep or obtrusive... serves the center of Greenbelt to center of Greenbriar" and is "expected to be an inducement for high school students to avoid the dangerous practice of crossing the Baltimore-Washington Parkway on foot."

FHWA felt that the Mandan location was an indirect route and that "building the overpass at that location could result in pedestrians not using it..." (An overpass at Mandan Road would also be more expensive to construct) Weidenfeld said that a referendum would be palatable to him if "Greenbriar Phase I was willing to abide by the referendum results and drop the condemnation suit if the voters favored an overpass." He said that while he was sympathetic to the fears and wishes of Phase I owners and hoped to find ways to lessen the friction, as a city councilman he had to look at the entire community. In his judgment, the Gardenway location was the safest, and the only way he would feel relieved of making a decision was to have the electorate make the determination.

Mayor Richard Pilski and councilmen Charles Schwan and Thomas White said they would support a referendum. Councilman Richard Castaldi was absent.

"We would be very happy to be removed from the position of appearing like ogres to a large segment of the community. It is not a very comfortable position," said Schwan.

Design

Council members said they welcomed Greenbriar owners' suggestions on the aesthetics and design of the overpass.

"Do you seriously believe that the engineers will listen to citizens about engineering and design?" asked Richard Ley.

White responded, "FHWA indicated that there would be input at the design stage."

City Manager James K. Giese noted that citizens would be able to express their views. Final designs, he said, would not be firmed up until 90 days before construction of the overpass so that cost and budget figures would not be "out of whack."

Phase I Trustee Rosie Kandland hoped that the overpass would not be "caged." Giese explained that most overpasses are enclosed for safety purposes.

Security

"The opposition to the overpass is our fear of high crime," said Shell.

"What is the possibility of 18 to 24 hour police surveillance in the area of the overpass?" asked Phase I board member Ann Perkins.

"Pretty expensive," said Pilski. "Greenbriar crime would have to exist to justify it." He explained that a third patrol sector covering Greenbriar, Glen Oaks and Windsor Green has been designated and partially implemented.

Council members stressed that they would take steps to ameliorate

Havekost Named City's Outstanding Employee

On March 24, at the Annual Greenbelt City Employees' Banquet, Barbara L. Havekost, Administrative Assistant in the City Manager's office, was honored as Outstanding City Employee of the year of 1978.

Havekost first came to Greenbelt in 1954 with intentions of starting college at the University of Maryland. She moved into GHI and "never left," the reason being that she "loves Greenbelt" too much to leave. She started working for the city nine years ago, in 1970, as a Clerk-Secretary. Havekost then moved on to become Staff Assistant and was later promoted to her present position. As Administrative Assistant, she handles special responsibilities of purchasing and personnel programs for the city and enjoys her work "very much."

In presenting the award, Mayor Richard R. Pilski cited her "capable, efficient and diplomatic manner in which she handles her duties and her willingness to assume additional responsibilities and put in the time necessary to get the job done." It was also noted that during her employment with the City, besides devoting time to the job and raising a family, she was able to successfully earn her college degree.

Besides Havekost, nine other City employees were the recipients of Service Awards. Honored for 25 years of service were Norman (Buck) Powell, Public Works Department Foreman, and Police Lieutenant Marshall (Bud) Zoellner. Cecil Breeden, Public Works Department Mechanic, was cited for 15 years of service, while two members of the Police Department were recognized for 10 years; Secretary Judy Boone and Sergeant Phillip Coombes.

Those recognized for five years of service were City Accountant Zoltan Bottykos; Harry James, Assistant Recreation Director; Public Works Crewman Robert Lush; and Police Communications Specialist Linda Scarlata.

City-Greenway Enumerate Conditions For Annexation

by Leta Mach

On Tuesday, April 3, an amicable work session was held between city council and officials from Greenway Center Limited Partnership, developers of the Greenbelt East/Greenway Shopping Center, to finalize wording for an annexation agreement. All three Greenway General Partners, Herbert Miller, Gerald Dillon and Richard Kramer, were present. Greenway Shopping Center, the 26 acre tract to be annexed, is located south of Greenbelt Road between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Hanover Parkway.

A separate charter amendment resolution describes the boundaries of the annexation and the phasing-in of city property taxes. The annexation agreement discussed April 3 dealt with conditions such as road improvements, the character of the proposed shopping center and direct police and fire department tie-ins to Greenbelt.

The Greenway officials were concerned that these agreements be up front and forward to prevent any complaints after annexation. Council members remarked that they had not heard any words of opposition. (Annexation benefits to the city include increased tax revenues, more influence over the proposed development, and smoothing out the irregular city boundaries.) City Manager James Giese noted that both the charter amendment resolution and letter of annexation agreement would be discussed at the public hearing scheduled for Monday, April 30.

The city and Greenway developers had previously discussed the city, state and Greenway sharing the cost of a possible light at the intersection of Greenbelt Road and Hanover Parkway. At this meeting, Dillon asked about extending this provision to cover synchronization of traffic lights if required. A decision on this question was postponed, however, until more information could be gathered about its necessity and cost.

The agreement spells out road improvements to the parcels. Only seed and sod will be required along the median strip of six lane Hanover Parkway. A sidewalk will be provided on one side of a 70 foot (3 lane) dedicated road at the rear of the shopping center. Plantings on the berm at the rear of the property were also agreed upon. The city has agreed to support two additional curb cuts for the shopping center along Greenbelt Road if approved by the State Highway Administration (SHA).

The road improvements required will be financed by city general obligation bonds paid off by a special assessment tax on the Greenway property. Greenway developers and the city agreed the sum involved would not exceed 1.2 million dollars. The Greenway developers are requesting a twenty year term of financing.

Among other items, the city agreed to support the rezoning of the 5.1 acre triangular Smith-Ewing tract to C-S-C (Commercial Shopping Center). Greenway developers are contract purchasers of the tract, which is located between the shopping center and Hanover Parkway. The city agreed a driveway across the tract from Hanover Parkway to the shopping center is advisable. (The Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and SHA had recommended that Hanover Parkway be the major entrance to the development to help alleviate traffic congestion.) In addition, the city council agreed not to oppose a special exception for a full service gas station on the tract.

Council Asked to Discourage Illegal Crossings of Parkway

by Elaine Skolnik

In an appeal before the Greenbelt City Council on April 16, Richard Ley requested that a resolution be passed that would "support public safety and discourage the crossing of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway." Ley reported that he saw four kids pushing bicycles illegally across the Parkway on April 12 and five kids crossing on April 6, both occurring around 4:30-4:45 p.m. "The sheer numbers of the problem are getting out of hand," he said.

Ley wanted the National Park Service (NPS) to patrol the area and the Greenbelt Police to be stationed on either side of the Parkway at the appropriate times.

"Because of the lack of police officers, time and resources," said Councilman Thomas White, "I don't know what could be done in terms of enforcement." Council thought it would be physically impossible to patrol the Parkway.

White suggested a public awareness program be initiated involving the Police Department and the News Review. "Parents," he said, "should be cautioned about the hazards of children crossing the Parkway."

"Pushing bicycles across the Parkway is really asking for it," Schwan said in dismay. He agreed with White that a public awareness campaign was needed and offered a motion to this effect, adding also that the principal, faculty and various student and parent organizations at E. Roosevelt be asked to participate. Council passed that motion unanimously. (Mayor Richard Pilski was absent.)

Schwan also thought the problem should be brought before the NPS. Mayor Pro Tem Gil Weidenfeld recounted that when Eleanor Roosevelt High School was opened, the NPS became aware of the illegal crossings but found it very difficult to police. He felt occasional patrolling was more realistic.

Councilman Richard Castaldi suggested that the holes in the fence be plugged because "once a hole is made in the fence, others would think it's okay to cross." He recommended signs containing warnings, penalties, fines and the fact that parents will be held liable be placed where people cross illegally.

Greenbelters Set Records In Long-distance Race

by Alexander E. Barnes

Like Bill Rodgers, several Greenbelters set personal records at the seventh annual Cherry Blossom Classic, Sunday, April 1. Bill Rodgers' personal record of 48 minutes also set an American record as he led a throng of 3,200 registered runners in this popular 10 mile race. He used the race, as do many others, as a warm-up for the Boston Marathon to be held April 16.

Paul Sweeney led the Greenbelters across the finish line in his personal record time of 1:07:15. Not far behind was George Farris in 1:11:16. This was a personal best for George, who has been training for only ten months. This reporter went into the chute at 1:13, while Bill Clarke came in a brief fifty seconds later. Bob Baker kept a steady nine-minute pace, finishing in 1:30, for a personal record.

Greenbelt's first damsel to grace the finishing stripe was Carol Irvine. Her time of 1:17 was a personal record. She's a track coach at Oxon Hill S.H.S. Second woman was Maryanne Baker, holding to a steady ten-minute pace, finishing with a personal best of 1:42.

Runners, call us again at 474-5310 with your times at Boston, and we will compile a report for the next issue.

Spellman Aides Here

A constituent meeting sponsored by Maryland Congresswoman Gladys Noon Spellman will be held on Saturday, April 21, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Greenbelt Municipal Building.

Case workers from Congresswoman Spellman's constituent service center in Hyattsville will be on hand to discuss individual constituent problems. Everyone is invited.

GARDEN PLOTS AVAILABLE IN SPRINGHILL LAKE AREA

The City of Greenbelt has obtained permission to temporarily use surplus land obtained from the federal government as garden plots pending the future development of the land as a park. The land is located west of Springhill Lake Apartments, adjacent to the Beltway and was formerly used by the Agriculture Research Center. Persons interested in obtaining a garden plot should contact the City Manager's office at the Greenbelt Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road, phone 474-8002.

Anniversary Luncheon For Golden Age Club

Members of the Greenbelt Golden Age Club will celebrate their 24th Anniversary on April 25, with a covered dish luncheon at 12 noon at the Youth Center. Members are requested to bring a dish of food, their own plates and serving silver. For further information call Esther Miller, Hospitality Chairman, in charge of arrangements for the luncheon - 345-3043.

Questions Heating Costs

To the Editor:

... I am a new home owner in this cooperative community. Since I purchased my home, my monthly coop fee has risen by $20 per month. When I called GHI to inquire about this increase, I was advised it was for heat.

... (In making) my own private survey, I have learned that people having homes the size of mine and even half again as large, have paid heating bills this past winter ranging from $40-$60 per month. I pay $72.33 per month — 12 months of the year, to heat my home ... a fraction of the year. Next summer when my air conditioners are running — I'll still be paying $72.33 per month for heat.

Almost everyone I inquired of who used fuel oil, as we do here, — is on a budget plan with their oil company. They pay from $45-$60 per month for 9 months of the year. At the end of the year they receive a refund if they've (over) paid. Furthermore, most of them paid $25 per year to the fuel oil company for maintenance of their furnaces.

These homes were free standing homes, exposed to the elements from all four sides. Whereas, mine being a row house, is only exposed on two sides. I would naturally assume, then, that mine would be even less expensive to heat than those prices quoted above.

I received a flyer in my door stating that at a recent council workshop it was stated that our fees may go up 15% next year because of "oil prices." We already pay much in excess to everyone in this area to heat our homes.

... I would be most grateful to see some financial statements from the directors to convince me that I'm not being overcharged. I would appreciate an explanation from the directors as to why my heating charges are so excessive compared to other home owners in the Md./D.C. area ...

Single Family Homesites

To the Editor:

The Clarke family has recently found a solution to the chronic shortage of single-family housing in Greenbelt. We, with two other families, have bought an undivided parcel of land. This parcel will be divided in three and we will eventually build a single family home for our family.

There are other parcels of land available in Greenbelt. One possibility for such owner occupant subdivision is single-family Parcel 4. If a group of Greenbelt residents were to buy this land to subdivide and build homes, there would no longer be the problem of the requested townhouse zoning.

Cooperation of Greenbelters to build homes for their families is not a new idea. The Woodland Hills Association did this many years ago. We are doing it today. We will be glad to share what information we have gained with any families who would like to do likewise.

Reply on Heating Costs

To the Editor:

Every member of the GHI Board agrees that heating costs are too high. That is why the board and membership are supporting a rehabilitation program to reduce them.

Because GHI homes are not as well insulated as they should be the estimated heat loss per home is 589 gallons for cinderblock units, 312 gallons for brick units and 397 gallons for frame units.

Much — not enough, but much — has been done to reduce heating costs. Between 1973 and 1978, heating plant improvements reduced masonry home fuel consumption by 13.2 per cent. (Frame home fuel consumption was reduced by 35.6 per cent.) Had the masonry home plants in 1978 burned oil at the 1973 rate, the cost per average member per month would have been $6.40 more than it was.

As stated, however, this is not enough and this is reason in part for the projected rehabilitation program. If it can be accomplished as planned, masonry home fuel savings in 1979 could be about 33-750 gallons, in 1980 about 133,000 gallons and in 1981 more than 200,000 gallons. At the price we might expect to pay in 1981, this would amount to about $125,000, or about $18.35 per average member per month.

Although it accounts for 54 per cent of the total, fuel is not the sole component of the masonry home heating budget. Electricity, boiler licenses and insurance, materials, transportation, equipment rental, contract work and payroll and associated expenses account for the remainder of the operating, maintenance and repair/replacement of our 140 masonry home heating plants. They are more than 40 years old. Undoubtedly some of these budget items are higher than they would be if the plants were newer.

What to do about our heating systems is being studied. There is no answer yet. In any event, the most volatile element is fuel oil prices. We have done something about them by reducing consumption and we propose to do more. GHI paid 9.46 cents per gallon for fuel oil in 1969, 43.01 cents in 1978. The current price is 51.44 cents. We could be paying much more in future years.

As to payment on a 12 month basis, that is done so that charges may be uniform by month throughout the year. The GHI Bylaws require that each year the Board adopt a budget. Each member's mutual ownership contract requires that each of the several types of homes pay its own expenses. These are part of the member's "operating payments" which the contract requires be paid "in equal monthly installments."

The repair and maintenance charge covers the member's share of the estimated expenses of repairing and maintaining the masonry home structures, plumbing, electrical work, roof repair, etc. It contains nothing that is related to heating.

Calls GHI Board And Management Parochial

To the Editor:

Thursday night, April 12, demonstrated to those members who attended the GHI Board Meeting just how parochial the board and management are. A large crowd came out to hear the board discuss two special items of interest, the change in Mutual Ownership Contracts and the charges brought against management by a former member of their staff. There was no mention of these items on the (printed) agenda, but remarks could be brought up on Item 4 of the agenda for visitors and members. Mrs. Coxon was the only member allowed to speak on behalf of the visitors and members. When Mr. Smith, in his ... weak voice, called for others, he failed to recognize hands in the back of the room due to confusion from new attendees and moving of chairs, which made it impossible for members to follow the procedure of the meeting. The next thing we members heard was that of the management and board discussing the particulars on the agenda. These particulars were of such low-caliber import that it was hoped further discussion of Mrs. Coxon's speech could be made if requested by members.

When I demanded to be heard, reminding Mr. Smith and the board that a good attendance was not due to any particular interest as to the size of a fence nor with the installation of a dog run, he rebuked me, saying this was a board meeting and he was in charge.

Finally, after 10:30 p.m., four people were left to the last. I understand he had brought up the subject of the allegations against GHI management and appointed the Audit Committee and Ad Hoc Committee.

As a result of this meeting I have the following questions to ask. If anybody has the answers, please do so.

1) If the attendance had been good throughout the meeting, would an Audit and Ad Hoc Committee have been appointed at that time? Mr. Smith did say he was not prepared earlier in the meeting to make such appointments.

2) Are any of the "opposition" going to be part of the Committee. I would like to nominate Eunice Coxon and Betty Denson as members of the Ad Hoc Committee.

3) Don't members have the right to participate in a board meeting and if there is dissatisfaction, isn't it in the power of the board to make amends?

It is sincerely hoped and very important that people don't be dismayed with this meeting. It's got to get better, it can't get any worse.

Deborah S. Rosetti

(Editor's Note: The Audit Committee made its own decision to investigate the allegations. Neither president nor board can tell the Audit Committee what to do.

Early in the meeting Smith said he was not prepared to make appointments to the Ad Hoc Bylaws Committee. He made no appointments to the Ad Hoc Committee to investigate the allegations at Thursday's meeting.)

A Dream for Greenbelt

To the Editor:

I have a dream!

Like many other Greenbelters (1,200 plus having signed the petition opposing rezoning of parcels 3 and 4) I also oppose this rezoning. For twenty-two years I have been fortunate to live in Greenbelt, a community that has everything — churches, banks, shopping facilities and most of all a sense of community. However, one thing Greenbelt does not have is the availability of single family free-standing homes. Ninety-five percent of Greenbelt's housing is multiple units, leaving only five percent single family free-standing homes.

My dream is to see parcels 3 and 4 developed as a section of affordable, adequate homes (not palaces or mansions, as we have not many kings and queens in Greenbelt — just average, very special people — some of whom would like to buy a free-standing home in Greenbelt.) My dream includes utilizing solar energy for heating and cooling, a much needed space age innovation in modern housing! Tell me, am I the "impossible dreamer?"

Better Government

To the Editor:

Last week I went to our lovely Greenbelt public library to read and was shocked by what I found. The magazine space recently had been reduced by over one-third, and many of my favorite magazines were gone. The librarian informed me that they had been asked to cut down on the number of magazines and also the hours the library is open. Moreover, a member of the County PTA Council tells me that elimination of many long-standing excellent school programs for our students appears likely, including possible elimination of all elementary school counselors. Such library and school cutbacks are local examples of how citizens are getting less social services for our taxes while we are paying for an increasing military budget that seems to give us less and less security! ...

Some ways to make your concern for better local government heard:

(1) Write your Senators and Representative about your dismay over the priorities in next year's budget.

(2) Visit a member of Gladys Spellman's staff when they are in Greenbelt this Saturday (April 21) at the Municipal Building from 9:30-11:30.

(3) Attend the Citizens hearing on "Your Taxes, Your Choice," Saturday, April 21 from 10-12 noon at the Unitarian Church of Silver Spring, 10309 New Hampshire Avenue (half mile north of Beltsway exit 25). This meeting will be moderated by the League of Women Voters, and area citizens and organizations will have the opportunity to express their concerns about how their tax dollars are being spent and about the priorities in our national budget. Senators and Congress persons have been invited and several of their representatives will be present. Come and bring your remarks so that Congress will know that citizens are concerned ...

Thursday, April 19, at 8:30 p.m., the school Americanism program will be presented in the Post hall. Awards are to be given for the winning Americanism essays written by students of neighboring schools. Mayor Dick Pilski will be the speaker.

Ambassador of Good Will

To the Editor:

Betty and I were saddened to read of the death of Jerry Goodin. To us, Jerry was more than someone who kept Greenbelt Center stores clean. He was an individual who helped spread cheer in the Center, even on gloomiest wintry days. Whether young or old, rich or poor, each of us who came to the Center always left feeling a little happier because we greeted or talked to Jerry. Even in his later years when time began to take its toll, Jerry still had his broad smile and greeting, in spite of pain and infirmities.

The Center will continue to remind us of Jerry, Greenbelt's long term ambassador of good will.

Stephen Polaschik

OUCH!

To the Editor:

Flourescent is the smell of Betty Crocker's line of goods. Fluorescent is an adjective applied to a type of low pressure mercury vapor discharge lamp, using a coating which shifts ultraviolet light into the visible range. And may the twain never meet again, especially on the front page of the Greenbelt News Review.

City Manager Submits 79-80 Budget

by Mary Lou Williamson

At its meeting April 2, Council received a summary of the $2.5 million 1979-80 budget proposed by City Manager James K. Giese calling for no change in the current tax rate of 97c per $100 of assessed valuation. Council set dates for the various workshops and public hearings to run over the next two months as every aspect of the more than 150 page document is examined in detail and refined by council.

The budget proposes an 8.21% increase over the current year's appropriations. "This increase", Giese told council, "is proposed at a time when the rate of inflation is well in excess of 10%."

"The budget being submitted is a 'hold-the-line' and not a 'TRIM' budget", Giese advised council in his memorandum. "Such a budget would necessitate the curtailment of city services and such a decision should be made by the council and the citizens."

Giese is most concerned by the "deteriorating condition of city streets". He calls for use of unappropriated surplus funds to undertake more work in this area next year.

A proposed across-the-board pay increase for classified personnel falls just below the 7% limit set by the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Compromise

The city manager, according to his memo, has tried to steer a narrow course of compromise in his budget. On the one hand, funds have not been provided for many requested items and some will be disappointed. On the other hand, the budget does provide for increased taxes and others will be disappointed.

Because of increased property assessments during the current year, the 97c tax rate will bring the city an additional 8.99% increase in actual taxes. A new state law now requires the city to advertise any intentions to collect in taxes more than it did the previous year, allowing for new development.

Council will hold a public hearing on the budget on May 22. Approval of the budget is scheduled for Monday, June 4. The charter requires budget approval before June 10. The new fiscal year begins July 1.

Governor Harry Hughes designated Councilman Thomas X. White as an alternate to Prince Georges County councilwoman Deborah Marshall to the Metropolitan Interstate Air Quality Committee. The committee will "coordinate inter-jurisdictional planning aspects of air pollution control activities of party jurisdictions (District, Maryland, Virginia) and to further co-

Phase II Greenbriar

The Third Annual Meeting of homeowners of Greenbriar Condominiums, Phase II, was held on March 14. Sixty-seven percent of the owners were represented and offered their votes for two vacancies on the Board of Directors and a Rule and Regulation change. The homeowners also had an opportunity to meet with and talk to Steve Bubbs, new managing agent of Greenbriar, as well as to discuss items of interest.

Within a week of the annual meeting the new board met and elected its officers for the next year. They are: President, Diane S. Vreeland; Vice President, Charles G. Sokol; Treasurer, Helen C. Shropshire; Secretary, Gary R. Thomas; Liaison to Managing Agent, Bruce Kerr.

The Board meets on the third Wednesday of every month at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Building. All Phase II residents are invited to attend.

Woman's Club News

In a County-wide Art Contest held on March 3, the Woman's Club of Greenbelt sponsored five local schools — Eleanor Roosevelt, Parkdale, High Point, DuVal and Greenbelt Junior High. The Eleanor Roosevelt Art Department students had 27 entries and 14 winners, including the Best in Show, by Lisa DeWitt with her pastel of a tiger and her cubs; Parkdale had 6 entries and four winners, including second-best in show, by Theresa Alston, a pencil drawing of a llama.

The winning entries will be entered in the State Youth Art contest sponsored by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Gerri Parrish is Art Chairman for the Greenbelt Woman's Club.

operate among them."

Intercounty Connector

Councilman Charles Schwan advised council of an apparent renewed interest in the Inter-County Connector—a portion of what was once called the outer beltway—which would connect 1-270 north of Rockville with the Baltimore-Washington Parkway south of Laurel. Schwan had observed in the Prince Georges County Council's Councilgram of March 23 a request for "citizens who wish to volunteer for a Citizens Advisory Committee to study the Intercounty Connector . . . volunteers are being sought to present to the council and the State Highway Administration the citizens' viewpoint regarding alternatives to the Intercounty Connector."

Schwan reminded council: "We have taken a great interest" in seeing that this highway is not built. He then asked councilman White whether he would volunteer to serve on this committee. "We've been opposed all along," agreed Mayor Richard Pilski. "The State legislature has said no, but like the fly in the ointment, this thing keeps coming back."

Transcendental Meditation

A free public lecture on Transcendental Meditation (TM) will be given Tuesday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Library.

The lecture will be given by Pauline Martin and Mark Stickels, two Greenbelt residents and TM teachers. The topic, "Health and the Aging Process," will cover new research indicating a reversal in the aging process. The lecture should be of special interest to senior citizens but all are invited to attend. A short film on the TM program will be shown. For more information call Pauline Martin at 441-9398.

Visiting Youth Choir And Puppet Program

Greenbelt Baptist Church, Crescent and Greenbelt Rds., will be host to the 40-voice Youth Choir of Calvary Baptist Church of Rocky Mount, N.C., April 27-29. The visiting Youth Choir will conduct special services, bring inspirational messages and present puppet programs. The services will be at 7:30 p.m. on April 27 and 28, and at 11 a.m. on Sunday, April 29.

The public is invited to attend all the programs.

Democratic Club

The next regular meeting of the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, April 20 in the Greenbriar Community Building. The guest speaker for the evening will be Delegate Robert Redding (D-23rd District) his talk will begin promptly at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served afterward.

GHI Members Attend Meeting About Contract Amendment

by Barbara Likowski

Approximately 150 people attended a special information hearing held by Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on Saturday, April 7 at 10:30 a.m. at the Greenbelt library. The meeting was held to give members an opportunity to ask questions and receive information about the proposed amendment to their contracts that they are being asked to sign. President Jim Smith presided and attorney Al Ginsberg gave legal information as needed.

Smith explained that the purpose of signing the amendment is to enable the board to obtain low interest loans in order to carry out the rehabilitation program which has been approved by the membership. Because of GHI's unique set-up, especially the necessity to have membership approval, both the State Housing Committee and HUD have stated that any loan made under the present contract would not be insurable. Since lenders want insurance on their loans, the board is seeking this means of making the loans insurable, Smith said. No action was to be taken at this meeting, Smith assured those present.

It was strictly an informational meeting. Also Smith stated that he would make no commitments for the board regarding what was discussed. The board members would make their own decisions. There was much critical discussion about the wording of the codicil (amendment), especially the fact that it seemed to permit board action on other things besides the rehabilitation program. Members Mat Amberg who was against the codicil as written and Ted Pritzker seemed to feel that if the wording were changed to cover just the rehabilitation program more people would be likely to sign. Other members spoke favorably of this. Still other members spoke against the wording as is and asked for clarification. Debbie Rosetti asked that every single thing that would be signed be spelled out.

Questions

Other questions asked included — If I elect to pay cash for work done, am I still obligated to pay? Answer: If there is no need to borrow, there would be no need to repay. — Question: — How will contracts be let? Answer: by bid. — Money for payment will be put in an escrow account and when the job has passed inspection, it will be paid. — Question: — Are new members who have already signed counted? Answer: according to the Maryland Housing Committee — GHI needs half of the old contracts signed — approximately 650 are needed. Several people expressed fear that their houses would be taken away from them. Member Miller replied that if the houses are not kept in good repair they would be lost to slum clearance.

When asked about the amount to be borrowed Smith explained that the membership had authorized up to $5,000,000 to carry out the rehabilitation program. Others, he said, had discussed other amounts and he wanted to clarify that only that amount could be borrowed, no more. Smith mentioned that 8,000 gallons less oil had been used this year and rehabilitation should result in cutting down more.

When other subjects were brought up, such as a demand by Mrs. Martha Hutzler for an audit, Amberg said "Whenever we have major decisions to make, complaints about things done in the past are resurrected . . . a meeting of this sort ought not to be turned into a kangaroo court . . ."

Some criticism centered on poor workmanship of the under-the-house insulation. Mrs. Wilson, member, reminded the group that the meeting was held to give information on what the need is and urged that members not lose sight of the fact that "insurance is our protection."

Flyers

As the meeting drew to a close three speakers spoke in connection with two flyers that had been delivered to GHI homes. Mrs. Bettie Denson, announced that she had written the first flyer and said she was surprised by letters in the News Review criticizing the fact that the flyer was unsigned. Denson said that it hadn't occurred to her that it would be necessary to sign it.

In regard to a flyer allegedly written by a former member of the maintenance staff, Manager Roy Breashears said that he had asked the board to appoint a committee to investigate the charges about him and his staff. He asked that no staff members or elected officials of GHI be on the committee.

Arthur Gropp, chairman of the audit committee, declared that this was a job for his committee. Gropp explained that the audit committee had been elected by the membership and was responsible to membership and not the board. He promised that the audit committee would start its investigation immediately and that they would have a report for the annual membership meeting.

Laurel Beats Greenbelt City Demands Rematch

Laurel left the Springhill Lake Recreation Center with a narrow 66-61 victory over the Greenbelt City Council and staff on Friday evening, March 16. Plans are being made for a return match in Laurel, where Greenbelt will get the chance to regroup and atone for this loss. Players and spectators alike joined in a night of fun and entertainment.

The game was played for the benefit of the Ride-A-Bike for the Retarded and the Prince Georges Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Local 17 Basketball Team Wins County Championship

Tim Foster's 15 points, ten rebounds and five blocked shots led the Greenbelt 17 Boys Club team to the Prince Georges County Basketball championship on April 5, as Greenbelt dropped District Heights 55-48 for the county crown.

Both squads had even records (12-4) at the close of regular season play. The one-game title match pitted the same two teams that had met for the P.G. County Championship two years ago. District Heights was the winner then.

"That made this victory all the sweeter," Greenbelt coach Phil Straw said after the game. "We stuck to the basics, made our free throws, and played good defense. I was especially proud of the fact that we played well enough to win, despite the long lay off between the end of regular season play and the championship game."

Greenbelt came from a ten point deficit in the first quarter and led by as much as 10 in the third. Curtis Mitchell led the team in rebounding with 13. Mitchell added nine points to the winning total. Greenbelt's Mike Jones had 10 points and eight rebounds before fouling out late in the final quarter.

The victory wraps up Greenbelt's season, leaving the 17 year olds with an overall record of 16-5, and a league mark of 13-4. In addition to the P.G. County title, the team also won the Greenbelt Invitational Tournament.

For Straw, the County title represented the second time in five years his teams have won Boys Club's most prestigious basketball title.

Weight Training-Fitness Class for Adults at GJHS

BREASHEARS REFUTES ALLEGATION MADE AGAINST HIM IN FLYER

by Barbara Likowski

At the April 12 Board of Directors meeting of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., General Manager Roy Breashears spent some time refuting allegations made against him in a flyer recently distributed to GHI homes. Although the name of a former member of the maintenance department was on the flyer, there was no written signature. Breashears asked the board to appoint a committee of responsible members to investigate the charges.

To the first charge of mental harassment of the alleged author, Breashears stated that all subjects discussed with him had been work oriented, and at times he was reprimanded, other times commended.

Breashears told the board he felt the allegations were made because the accuser was disappointed when he was not made maintenance director, a job Breashears did not feel the man was qualified for.

Breashears conceded there are problems in the maintenance department. Since it is the largest operation and in the public eye, it is the most vulnerable, he said. A large turnover in the position of maintenance director has also had an impact on supervision of other workers. Breashears reminded the board that he has kept them informed of all such matters; but because of the very personal nature of the problems, and to protect confidentiality, most of this has been done in executive session. Contrary to charges made, many of former maintenance director Mulder's ideas regarding rehabilitation were "adopted and supported" and his "separation had nothing to do with the rehab program."

But authority to spend funds in the maintenance department rests with the manager (with the consent of the board), not with the maintenance director, as charged, Breashears attested. If he hadn't been alert, Breashears maintained, violators would not have been caught and fired.

He also stressed that all contract work is done only after competitive bids from qualified contractors and reviewed by the purchasing expeditor and again by the comptroller.

No Bids

To the charge that the staff engineer had selected window rehabilitation contractors, Breashears stressed that no bids have been received nor contractors selected for the rehabilitation program, including the windows. Before selection "each bid will be presented to the board for approval and contractors will be selected at that time in accordance with provisions of our bylaws," Breashears said.

The only exception was installation of siding on the dentists' offices. For demonstration purposes and economical reasons, the staff engineer asked through Dryvit contractors in the area for certification from the Dryvit manufacturer to make the installation. When work is done on the block homes, however, it will go out for bid.

Supports Engineer

Labeling charges against the staff engineer, Ove Kongsted, as untrue, Breashears questioned the lack of specific instances.

The salary of staff engineer Kongsted is slightly lower than the $34,000 listed in the flyer. Breashears reminded the board of the difficulty they have had in getting a qualified man for the job. After advertising twice, "we were fortunate to catch Mr. Kongsted between jobs and hired him on a negotiated salary basis," Breashears said. He added, "Mr. Kongsted's fine qualifications are a matter of record." Later, when offered a much better job, Kongsted turned in his resignation. He finally decided to stay on at a lower salary than he had been offered elsewhere, but at a salary increase.

As for the charges that the condition of the frame homes has been withheld from the manager and board, Breashears pointed out that the condition of these homes is well documented as a result of numerous surveys.

Plumbing work is not in direct code violation, asserted Breashears, but in accordance with BOCA codes. If there are any code violations, Breashears said, they are the result of members doing their own work and are being corrected at the time of resale.

Breashears maintained that all work done for himself or on his car was done after work hours and at his personal expense and he has cancelled checks to prove the payments. He did take an old fire extinguisher off a trash pile that was to be carted to the dump because he thought he could make a lamp out of it. In retrospect he said he would not do this again.

Because of the necessity for late night and weekend working hours (for which he receives no additional remuneration), Breashears said he did not try to keep an 8:30 to 5 schedule. He is, however, available at all times when needed.

Committees Investigate

After the board discussed possible ways to deal with the charges, director Norman Weyel moved that the board establish an ad hoc committee to investigate the charges and to report back as soon as possible. Motion passed. The audit committee, which is directly responsible to the membership and not to the board, is also making its own investigation and plans to report to the membership at the annual meeting.

Heating Alternatives Committee

The board received a request from its ad hoc committee on heating alternatives that they receive answers on the cost of installing and operating electrical heat equipment. They asked for the answers by May 1 so that they can prepare a report for the annual meeting.

Heat Experiment

The manager presented the board with the results of his meeting with member Robert Wilhide, 59-G Ridge. Wilhide is developing a total electric unit and has asked for permission to convert his unit to total electric power and to be allowed to remove it from the present hot water and heating system. It would, in effect, be a laboratory in GHI and save the corporation the expense of doing a sample unit. Wilhide will give management copies of his electric bill for study. The board gave permission for this test provided charges can be worked out with the finance committee.

Housing Assistance Criteria

Criteria for selecting members for section 8 designations were approved by the board. Priority will go to those who have been members longer than 2 years as of May 1, 1979 and have lowest income. Application deadline is May 1, 1979.

Early in the meeting, when the board hears from its members, member Eunice Coxon, spoke against the proposed codicil to the members' contracts. Coxon said members may have to consider a class action suit to protect members' rights. She asked that interested people contact Betty Denison, Carl Conrad or herself. She asked for immediate answers to charges made in the flyer mentioned earlier in this article (the subject had already been added to the agenda by the manager). A month is too long to wait, Coxon added.

Some other members present, not hearing the president ask if anyone else wished to speak because of the noise in the audience, became irate when they realized the board had moved on to other agenda items. They tried to force president Jim Smith to stop and listen to them, but the meeting continued. When business had been conducted, Smith again asked if there was a member who wished to speak, but none did.

City of Greenbelt Voter Registration for

1979 Council Election

On September 18, 1979, a regular election will be held in the City of Greenbelt to elect five members of the City Council who shall be elected at large. City elections are non-partisan and any qualified voter of the City of Greenbelt may be nominated for the office of member of Council during the period of July 1 through August 6, 1979. Information may be obtained from the City Clerk - 474-3870.

In order to vote in a city election, it is necessary to be a registered voter of the City of Greenbelt. REGISTRATION WITH PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY DOES NOT ENTITLE GREENBELT CITIZENS TO VOTE IN CITY ELECTIONS. However, it is very easy to register with the city, and the only requirements are:

- United States citizen
- 18 years of age on or before the date of the next city election (Sept. 18, 1979)
- Of sound mind
- Domiciled in the City of Greenbelt.

Any person meeting the above requirements, may register at the City Offices, Monday-Friday, during regular business hours 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

In 1977 the Greenbelt Charter was amended to permit voter registration by mail. All that is required is a phone call to 474-8000 or 474-3870, or the submission of an application form which will be made available to citizens who are interested in encouraging citywide voter registration. Also, to encourage maximum voter registration, a

Police Blotter

Lookouts have been issued for a suspect who reportedly stole over $3,000. worth of jewelry from the Theodore Nye Jewelry Store in Beltway Plaza recently. The suspect after looking around the store for a few minutes, passed a note to a clerk threatening her, and demanded jewelry. The clerk refused to give him any and he reached into a display, grabbing several items and then fled the store. The clerk gave chase, but stopped outside the Drug Fair where the subject allegedly pulled a knife on her. Investigation is continuing.

While investigating the reported breaking and entering into a camper in the Springhill Lake boat lot, Pfc. Watkins recovered items that had been reported stolen in December, 1978. The owners were contacted and the items returned. Investigation is continuing.

Lookouts have been issued for a person who snatched a purse from a woman who was walking across the parking lot at Beltway Plaza. The suspect approached the woman from behind, grabbed her purse and ran across the lot. Investigation is continuing.

PFC Watkins of the department's Crime Prevention Unit spoke to eight classes of Juniors and Seniors at Eleanor Roosevelt

problems that the overpass might cause in the area of 7716, 7718 and 7720 Hanover Parkway. White thought that the overpass could be secured at night.

The present illegal crossing of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway by students and others, however, continued to frustrate and anger Greenbriar residents.

"Is there any way to place obstacles to prevent them from crossing the parkway?" asked Don Curry.

"What about fines?" asked Shell.
Pilski described how the young people were cutting through the strong fences built by the federal government. "The Park Service and maintenance have cooperated on these problems, but could not figure out anything to do about barriers," he said.

Weidenfeld noted that the park police made significant attempts at trying to catch the offenders but, he said, "there is no practical way of policing the parkway; it would be a continuous never-ending problem."

Greenbelt Rd. Bikeway

The question of providing a pedestrian-bikeway on Greenbelt Road also cropped up again. The Maryland State Highway Administration has consistently opposed this because planning for reconstruction of the Parkway is now taking place. Major changes in the Beltway-Parkway Interchange and the Greenbelt Road ramps to the Parkway are being considered and decisions won't be made for years. When reconstruction is complete, SHA officials believe that all the turning movements will make walking on Greenbelt Road too hazardous, even if there were a sidewalk.

This discussion prompted White to remark, "The overpass controversy will pale into insignificance when the whole Greenbelt community will have to deal with reconstruction."

Overpass Opposition

Several Greenbriar owners have vowed to oppose the overpass in Phase I.

Irma Rosenthal reminded everyone about the snail-darter stopping the construction of a dam. "Don't say the federal government won't build at Mandan Road," she said.

Ley, in a letter to the FHWA, took issue with the reasons the agency gave for not approving the Mandan Road location. He advised that "We will ask the Environmental Protection Agency to conduct a noise pollution study . . . (and) will request a court injunction to halt construction at the Gardenway site . . . There is no energy crisis in Greenbriar's determination to fight a bureaucracy's unreasonable arbitrariness. We will go to court to contest condemnation. . . We will consult the National Highway Safety Administration. We have just begun to fight. We will not cease our opposition to the Gardenway location as long as an acceptable alternative exists at Mandan Road."

However, several Phase II residents in the audience made it clear that the Mandan location was not acceptable to them. Although sympathetic to the concerns of Phase
I, they pointed out that council had already made the decision by a 3-2 vote. Previously, Phase II board of directors went on record opposing the Mandan location.

In a letter to the city dated April 6, Morgan Langston, president of Phase III wrote, "... the overpass as proposed entering into Phase I property is unacceptable. It is our hope that the city council will reconsider its position and drop all plans to install the overpass in the Phase I location or any location within the property limits of the Greenbriar complex."

CITY NOTES

As of April 12, 17 apartments were occupied and 63 other leases had been signed in Green Ridge House.

The curb and gutter on Center-way was backfilled and the old base material from Crescent Road was spread at the parking area at the old landfill. Sidewalk was replaced in front of the City Office Building.

The backstop at the old landfill was installed. Picnic tables were put out in the Lake Park. Grass mowing was started on the golf course and the ballfields.

Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc.

ANNUAL FUND RAISING DRIVE

Did you know that YOUR Volunteer Fire Department saves your community $815,006 in tax dollars. This figure represents the dollar savings based on $6.33, the starting salary of a paid firefighter in Prince George's County. YES, that's right. The volunteers devoted 128,753 hours in 1978 to community services.

Once again, the Department is asking for your support.
Your contributions in the past have been devoted solely to the ambulance equipment and operations. This year the replacement of two fire trucks and an addition to the building has caused us to seek additional help. This year the Department will conduct a general equipment fund drive. This does not mean that the Ambulance Club Membership Cards will not be distributed. The cards will be distributed this year in the same manner as last, however, there is an increase in the membership fee.

$5 Senior Citizen Discount (Age 60 or Older)

$10 Green Card Membership. All emergency transports & routine transports within a 25 mile radius - (24 hr. notice required for routine transports.)

$20 Gold Card Membership. All emergency and routine transports - (24 hr. notice required for routine transports.)

Please take note also of the Senior Citizen discount; anyone 60 years or older must mark their enrollment card with SC "Senior Citizen" in order to receive a green card membership card for $5.

To further inform the public, the Department is conducting an OPEN HOUSE on Sunday, April 29, 1979, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Contributions will be accepted on that day. If you are unable to join us, please mail your donation to Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department, P. O. Box 35, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

Remember that TRIM is now here and the county operating fund will be cut back. Once again - HELP US TO HELP YOU.

G.H.I. Members

At the annual membership meeting and election May 23-24, 1979, Greenbelt Homes members will elect five directors to serve two-year terms and three members to the Audit Committee to serve one-year terms. If you are intersted in serving in one of these capacities, please fill out the form below and give to a member of the Nominations and Elections Committee: Janet James, 39-G Ridge Road, Chairperson (474-3604); Robert Sonne-veldt, 6-Q Ridge Road; Robert Spear, 1-A Ridge Road; Steve Sinden, 35-K Ridge Road; or Marion Harrison, 6-C Crescent Road. If more convenient, the completed form may be dropped off at the Manager's office for forwarding to the Committee.
